Mr. and Miss LSUS announced; Clingan wins, run-off slated

by DENISE ALLEN

Denise Clingan, sophomore, has recently been named Miss LSUS and there will be a run-off for Mr. LSUS between Tommy Brown, junior and David Towns, senior.

Clingan's achievements at LSUS are membership in Student Government Association (SGA), associate director of the SGA Public Information Office (PIO), Young Democrat, member of Delta Delta Delta, and a member of Intramural girl's all-star football team.

While at LSUS, Brown has been involved in Intramural sports. He played for the Misfits softball, basketball and football teams. He has been a captain and co-captain for 2 years. Brown was on the championship softball and basketball teams and a member of the spring 1976 all-star basketball team. In 1974 he was badminton champion.

Other activities Brown has been involved in are Health and Science Club officer, 2nd vice-president in the Honor Society, and student director of Intramural sports.

Towns has been associated with many SGA offices. He served as sophomore senator in 1973-1974, junior

In Campus Discussion

Chairmen elected

In SGA business last week a chairman and a vice-chairman were elected for the Campus Wide Discussion committee, two resolutions were passed, a judge was appointed and fair booth plans were finalized.

The SGA sponsored Campus Wide Discussion committee met October 13 and elected Jeff Wellborn as chairman and Gail Overmyer as vice-chairman.

RESOLUTION 77-9 which was an amendment of the Campus Wide Discussion committee was approved by unanimous consent.

Resolution 77-13 was approved by the Senate.

Virginia Small was appointed as the new judge from science, by Dr. Thomas Moss, Dean of the College of Sciences. Vote on Miss Small's appointment will be at next Friday's SGA meeting. If elected she will be the fifth member of the SGA's judicial board. Also on the board are Donald Wendt, Chief Justice; Clement Binnings, representing Education, Lisa Fowler, representing General Studies and Dubba Hermes, representing Liberal Arts.

THE FAIR booth was built at a senator's residence, recently and was set up at the fairgrounds Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

President Pro-tempore, Pat Dowling, urged all senators to offer their time working at the fair.

senator in 1974-1975, senate parliamentarian, registered SGA lobbyist, and director of Office of Special Research in 1974-1975. Towns is also a member of the Social Science Club, and the Law Society where he served as historian, vice-president and president. He is also a member of the Student-Faculty Student Affairs Committee.

Being a member of Kappa Alpha, he has served as parliamentarian and president. Towns was Mr. LSUS in 1975-1976.

Elections are being held today to decide the run-off between Brown and Towns.

With shower of stars

Fair opens today

by MONA THORNE

The Louisiana State Fair opens at the fairgrounds Oct. 22 through Oct. 31, featuring the free grandstand show, championship rodeo finals and livestock auctions.

The grandstand show, the "1976 Shower of Stars," will present free performances at 6 and 8 p.m. daily. The headlining stars will be La Costa, Pat Boone, Tanya Tucker and Ken Curtis. They will be backed up by Dave Merrifield and his "flying trapeze", ventriloquist Jimmy Nelson and the Volantes, a bicycle-unicycle duo.

COUNTRY SINGER La Costa will perform Oct. 22-24, recording star Boone plays Oct. 25 and 26; Tucker, La Costa's sister will be there Oct. 27 and 28; and the final three days will headline Curtis, "Festus" from the television show Gunsmoke.

Candy Candido, the fair's "Goodwill Ambassador," will be master of ceremonies.

Auto races are slated for each Saturday and Sunday afternoon, and the championship finals of the Louisiana Rodeo Association will be presented 8 p.m. Oct. 29 and 30.

THE NATIONAL Brahman Show and sale will be held for the first time in Shreveport, at the Hirsch Memorial Coliseum. The sale, scheduled for Oct. 23, at 2 p.m., will offer approximately 25 head of select Brahman from the United States and foreign countries.

The annual junior livestock auction is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 26, at 1 p.m.

Cattle will be in the livestock barns throughout the Fair and horse shows can be seen at the new horse pavilion.

The Royal American Shows, the world's largest traveling midway, will furnish the rides and attractions.

On campus

Experts replace trees

Some 17 diseased sycamore trees at the LSUS campus will have to be uprooted and replaced, a university spokesman said recently.

"Three qualified people examined the sycamores and have unanimously agreed the trees are diseased beyond saving," George Kalmbach, director of the LSUS physical plant, said.

KALMBACH identified the consultants as Shreveport City Forester J. Allen Sumrall, area horticulturist Dr. Joe White, and Dr. Richard K. Speairs, professor and chairman of the LSUS department of biological sciences.

"We will uproot them, probably this month, and replace them with a heartier variety of tree—possibly some tulip poplars," Kalmbach said.

KALMBACH said the trees, which line the mall area of the LSUS campus, have been constantly replaced since first being planted.

"They have continued to suffer from a disease common to sycamores, and also have had difficulty getting a sufficient amount of water where they are located," he said.

Kalmbach said the action is being taken now because "This is a dormant time of the year for trees, and is the best time to replace them."

Recently the Big House, of the Hutchinson Plantation in Caspiana, was officially given to LSUS. Chancellor Donald E. Shipp receives the donation from Mrs. Howard Hooper (center) and Mrs. W. D. McClellan. (photo: Denise Allen)

LSUS Debate Team captures third

by CARLA HARPER

The LSUS Debate Team recently traveled to Southeastern University at Hammond for the Strawberry Classic debate tournament. Twelve schools from Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, and Texas were represented at the tournament.

LSUS captured third place in Sweepstakes with a total of 60 points in debate and 12 points in individual events. The following awards were won in debate: third place, Brian Lee and Donald Wright who had four wins and four losses; also third place, Rebecca Hudsmith and Don Hutchinson who had five wins and three losses.

IN INDIVIDUAL speaking, winners were: sixth place, Wright with 192 total points; seventh place, Rhett Myers with 188 total points; and eighth place, Hudsmith with 183 total points.

Wright also won first place in impromptu speaking. Others who entered impromptu were Myers and Raelene Pell. Pell and Jennifer Sartor also entered oral interpretation.

Dr. Frank Lower, debate coach, commented, "We split up last year's championship team and paired them with beginning freshmen for the first debate, so I wasn't sure how it would turn out. But I was very pleased with the results."

The Debate Team's next tournament will be at Louisiana Tech University.

Musician Sherman performs tonight

Guitarist Dave Sherman will be in concert tonight from 7-9 p.m. in the Science Lecturer Auditorium, sponsored by the Student Activities Board (SAB). Also highlighting tonight's entertainment is the movie "Race With the Devil" at 9:15.

DAVE SHERMAN, former back-up guitarist for "Blood, Sweat & Tears" and "The Hues Corporation" will perform.

Sherman, a native of Greenville, Mississippi, was introduced to the guitar in 1959, and began the musical progression through high school rock bands and church choirs.

Mr. and Miss LSUS

Qualification changes needed

The Student Government Association (SGA) recently held Mr. and Miss LSUS elections. The election differed from previous elections because photographs of the candidates were not posted at the polls. We believe that since this is not a beauty contest that photographs should not be supplied because the students may vote primarily on qualifications of the candidates.

The Almagest learned yesterday that the SGA is in the process of restricting qualifications for next year's election. We, however, would like to suggest two major changes. Since Mr. and Miss LSUS are representatives of the university in parades, festivals and fairs these selected students should be a junior or senior, scholastically recognized and considered an outstanding participant in student activities. Freshmen and sophomores very seldom achieve the credibility that many of our juniors and seniors have accomplished.

Although newly elected Miss LSUS Denise Clingan shows a promising future she is a sophomore. Her achievements include Intramural Sports and SGA participation. A member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority, she is a song leader. Rebecca Hudsmith, senior, received 13 votes less than Clingan. She is president of the Honor Society and president of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. Participating in the Debate Club, she has won three individual trophies. She also holds a 3.8 grade point average. Presently, she is Editor of Spectra. We believe that these are outstanding contributions to the University but Hudsmith is a graduating senior and will not have the chance to reign as Miss LSUS.

Also, we recommend that if a student has previously represented the university he or she should not be eligible to serve more than a year.

Presently, there is a runoff between last year's Mr. LSUS, David Towns and Tommy Brown, Intramurals Sports Director. Although Towns has exhibited outstanding service in his position as Mr. LSUS it seems only fair for him to give up his glory and step down from his throne.

—MR. AND MISS LSUS ELECTIONS—

On Nov. 2

Why won't America vote?

by KENT LOWE

On November 2, Americans will go to the polls to decide between Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter as the next President of the United States. Our democratic process gives most Americans the right to vote. Probably, less than half of those old enough to be eligible will vote. But in similar situations, other countries like Britain always seem to get 80 to 90 percent of the voters to the polls. Why can't America?

Here are three reasons why people of voting age do not vote: (1) Some people are illiterate and are unable to qualify to vote in the election; (2) many people know nothing about the registration process and those that do feel it is slow and cumbersome; (3) in the South, only half of all blacks are registered.

Many groups have won the right to vote in this country's history: blacks, women, and most recently, the 18 year olds. But most of these groups will not vote. One excuse people use is that they will not be in town to vote. They could vote by means of the absentee ballot. Also, registration is not that tough a process. It only takes about ten or fifteen minutes.

Others will not vote because they do not understand the campaign issues of the candidates. Also, many people are not going to vote just because they do not like either Ford or Carter. These people should remember that there are other candidates for President and there will be other races on which to vote on. Others, though, will not vote because they really just do not care.

These people believe that America will fall on her face no matter who is elected.

The polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Nov. 2. As the television commercials suggest: "Vote. It's the Bicentennial thing to do."

Carter Manual explains gimmicks

By DON WAITT

There are car repair manuals, physical exercise manuals, sex technique manuals and now at the headquarters of presidential candidate Jimmy Carter there is a manual explaining campaign gimmicks.

Jim King, Carter's advance chief and a former Ted Kennedy aide, has compiled a manual of campaign tricks for Carter campaigners, according to the Miami Herald.

THE 111 page, confidential manual gives helpful hints on how to improve Carter's image and subsequently downgrade his opponent's.

The Miami Herald's Washington bureau obtained a copy of the manual and printed excerpts. The Herald felt the manual was "marked throughout by a patronizing view of local politicians and volunteers."

According to the newspaper, selections from the manual tell how to handle hecklers, how to use a stalled car to stop traffic and attract crowds and how to plant "hard core enthusiasts" in crowds thus making the press believe the candidate drew the crowd.

THE HERALD claims the manual instructs campaign workers not to tell people more than they need to know to complete their functions, thus controlling what happens; how to "dribble out" information to the news media to assure maximum publicity and how to choose the more prestigious reporters, wire services and networks to give information to.

The manual outlines how Carter should be treated in public. All private clubs at which the candidate stays must be integrated. The people appearing on stage with Carter should be "middle American in appearance and balanced by race and sex." Carter should be given 4-by-6 cards at every appearance, listing "notables on stage in order of seating, names of speakers, no-no issues, local unemployment statistics and a list of local Democratic candidates."

ON CARTER'S personal appearance the Herald quotes the manual, "The candidate dislikes being hustled around by excitable people... He needs 15 to 20 minutes of private time to prepare for every major speech. There must be a decent private holding room, with a bathroom near where he will speak."

The manual explains how to photograph Carter's face and his hair which is the "best in (the) trade."

Though the manual was written by a member of Carter's campaign committee, Jim King, Carter doesn't endorse the manual in its entirety.

HIS PRESS chief ordered an immediate review of the manual and Jody Powell, Carter's press secretary, ordered it revised. Powell quoted Carter as saying some of the manual's methods were "not in line with the way I want to see this campaign run." Powell said Carter asks his campaigners to pay no attention to the manual and stressed that he, Carter, has not read the manual.

Betty Rainwater, Carter's deputy press secretary, said, "As a matter of fact, I think much of it is written in a fairly light-hearted way, because the advance folks have such a very difficult job to do."

CAMPAIGN gimmicks are not restricted to the Carter camp alone, while Carter's Campaign posters showed a smiling candidate Ford's posters countered with a somber, granite-faced candidate and while Carter campaigns from a peanut farm, Ford, like other presidents, uses his incumbency as a catalyst. Though campaign gimmicks have been accepted but not flaunted, this is the first time they have been consolidated in book form.

In 1513 Niccolo Machiavelli's "The Prince" was written explaining the unorthodox ways a ruler can control his subjects and now 463 years later Jimmy Carter's advance chief, Jim King, has written a manual telling the unorthodox ways a ruler's aides can control the subjects response to the ruler.

Sorority organizes

Chi Psi Zeta, has been organized as a new local sorority on campus. The group formally announced the club at an Announcement Tea recently at the residence of Mrs. John Thomas.

Known informally as XYZ, the group was started to offer an alternative to national sororities. "We wanted to form a social type of organization that would be free of rituals and financial obligations," commented Suzy Boddie, president.

MEMBERSHIP in XYZ is by application and recommendation. There will be no formal rush offered.

Some of the members were previously the Little Sisters of Delta Sigma Phi, but Boddie said the group "was no longer affiliated" with the fraternity.

Long range plans for this year include working with Phi Delta Theta fraternity in the faculty sponsored Easter Egg Hunt.

THE SORORITIES colors are emerald green, gold and white and the flower is the yellow daisy.

Charlene Handford, assistant professor of communications is the faculty sponsor. Officers are: Suzy Boddie, president; Elaine Rowan, vice-president; Jackie Moore, treasurer; and Debbie Cook, secretary.

Other members are Cindy Phillips, Denise Hiddleston, Jeanie Jenkins and Kathy Dominique. Sponsors are Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. Joe Boddie and Mrs. Helen Lerrite.

Rock group "Eagles" plays locally

by LEA ANN GLENN

One of the most popular rock groups in the country is coming to Shreveport. The Eagles will be in concert November 7 at 8 p.m. in Hirsch Colliseum.

The Eagles' albums have been number one on the charts since their first album, "Desperado," was released. From there, the Eagles have produced four more hit albums—"Eagles," "On the Border," "One of These Nights," and "Eagles Greatest Hits."

NOT ONLY have their albums been number one on the music charts, but single cuts from each of the five albums have been "million seller" records. Singles such as "Desperado," "Witchy Woman," "Take It to the Limit," "Take It Easy," "Best of My Love," and "One of These Nights," have made the Eagles what they are today.

The music itself does not make a hit record, rather it is the people who make the music. The Eagles are Glenn Frey, vocal, guitar and keyboards; Bernie Leadon, vocal, guitar, banjo, mandolin and steel; Don Felder, vocal, guitar and slide guitar; Randy Meisner, vocal and bass guitar; and Don Henley, vocal, drums and percussion.

THE WORK that leads to the perfection that the Eagles have is shared by all five members of the group, but Frey and Henley have written some of the group's most successful songs. They were responsible for the music and lyrics of six out of 10 songs on the popular "One of These Nights" album.

For Henley, the concert in Shreveport will be almost like coming back home again. Henley was raised in Linden, Tex., a town some 60 miles west of Shreveport. He began his music career in the high school band, played the drums in a local group, then left for California to join various groups before becoming one of the Eagles.

Leadership skill course offered here

A course designed to improve the leadership skills of community leaders in Northwest Louisiana will be offered Oct. 28-Dec. 16 at LSUS.

It is entitled "Psychology of Leadership for Community Leaders" and will consist of 24 hours of lecture, discussion, and stimulation meetings one evening each week for an 8-week period. John Powell, LSUS director of Conferences and Institutes, said.

THE COURSE will meet 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Thursdays (except for Thanksgiving Day) in Bronson Hall.

Powell said participants will be furnished necessary materials, no tests will be given, and that certificates will be awarded for successful completion.

Course instructors will include: Dr. Vincent J. Marsala, project codirector and dean of the College of General Studies; and—from the Department of Psychology—Dr. Richard M. Flicker, project codirector and assistant professor; Dr. George A. Kemp, professor and department chairman; Assoc. Prof. Donita Gothard; and Drs. Robert L. Benefield, and Mark P. Vigen, both assistant professors.

SESSION DATES and topics will be: Oct. 28—Introduction to the Psychology of Leadership; Nov. 4—Communications Skills and Information Utilization; Nov. 11—Leadership, Problem Solving, and Decision Making; Nov. 18—Contingency Management in Organizational Settings; Nov. 24 (Weds.)—Current Social Issues in Northwest Louisiana; Dec. 2—Social Expectations and Human Relations in Organizational Settings; Dec. 9—Personal Satisfaction in Life, Work, and Retirement; and, Dec. 16—Summary, Evaluation, and Overview.

More information concerning the course can be obtained by contacting Powell at LSUS, 8515 Youree Drive, or by telephoning 865-7121, Ext. 262.

Cable TV hits Shreveport

by SAM MOORE

After almost a year of broken promises and rescheduled timetables, cable television has arrived in Shreveport.

According to cable television officials, it will take 12 to 15 months for the entire Shreveport area to have access to it. But for those lucky viewers who are among the first to receive the cable in their homes, practically a whole new world of television is open to them.

Revenge advances to playoffs

In a battle of strong defenses, Revenge (Faculty) tied Beta Chi, 0-0. Revenge gets credit for the win on penetrations, 1-0. With this win, Revenge clinches the Wednesday IM League and will advance in the IM Playoffs.

The tone of the game was set early when Revenge's Rich Flicker intercepted a Beta Chi pass. This was one of four Revenge interceptions. Flicker had another one in the second half, while John Tabor and Stuart Mills each intercepted one.

THE WINNING penetration came on the first possession of the second half as Revenge marched from their own twenty down the field. The penetration, crossing the opponent's twenty, occurred on a third down pass from Flicker to John Tabor. The Beta Chi defense stiffened and Revenge failed to score.

For Beta Chi, Larry Morales intercepted a Revenge pass and returned it inside the twenty. This was not considered a penetration because the offense took over inside the twenty. In the waning moments, Beta Chi's QB, John Dean completed a pass to the Revenge twenty-five. A fifteen yard tackling penalty brought the ball inside the penetration line. Once again, because of the penalty, no penetration. The had to score. On the game's final play, Dean was stopped behind the line by the tough Revenge defense.

IN THE other Wednesday game, Kappa Alpha scored on an interception by Steve Beebe and a Danny Walker to Ronnie Boswell TD pass to beat Delta Sigma Phi, 12-0.

League standings show that Revenge has a perfect 6-0 record. Beta Chi and Mothership Connection are tied at 4-2, while KA and Delta Sig are 2-4.

Prof runs 60 miles during training

Professors are human. They actually exist and function like normal people after they leave the university. An example is Dr. Barron Tabor.

Dr. Tabor, who is the assistant professor of mathematics and president of LSUS' chapter of the American Association of University Professors, likes to run.

JUST RECENTLY he entered and finished a 26 mile marathon at Crowley, La. sponsored by the Rice Festival. It was his first marathon and afterwards he said, "I thought I'd never want to go faster than a slow walk again." But after a few days of rest Dr. Tabor is looking forward to a marathon in Dallas scheduled for sometime in December.

"I TRY to run five or six times a week," said Dr. Tabor, "and at least 60 miles a week when I'm in training."

According to Coach Royal, someone representing OU sat in on Texas practices. Coach Barry Switzer of Oklahoma insists that he knows nothing of this alleged spy.

Royal feels so sure that his is right that he has stated that he would personally give the Oklahoma football program $10,000 if Coach Switzer and his staff would take a polygraph test and pass. No comment has been made by Switzer.

NEVERTHELESS, the accusations have had an affect on the students of the universities. When Coach Royal was introduced before the game, he was greeted by a chorus of boos. Coach Switzer, on the other hand, was heartily cheered. The game was played in Dallas.

Incidentally, it has not yet been confirmed; but it is rumored that President Ford, who was in Dallas to watch the game, was actually present to grant Coach Switzer presidential pardon.

Tricycle race held in LSUS mall

by RENEE SLETTE

The First Annual LSUS Fall Tricycle Race will be held next Friday in the LSUS mall. Several teams have already entered, according to Jim Harvey, Student Activities Board director.

Basketball

Game set

The Intramurals Department has announced the 1976 Fall Basketball tournament. The tournament will be held Nov. 15, 17 and 18 at Fort Humpug on Youree Drive. Games will begin at 6 p.m.

ALL STUDENTS and faculty members of LSUS are eligible to participate. To enter a team, or as an individual, come by the IM office, Bronson Hall, rooms 142 or 130 as soon as possible. If you enter as an individual player do not sign up with an established team. If you wish to do so, contact the IM office. This will deter any scheduling confusion.

Bowling play to organize

Tebbe's Bowlero is in the process of organizing a statewide intercollegiate bowling tournament, according to Joe Simon, LSUS Intramurals director. LSUS is now organizing teams to compete in this tournament. Each team will consist of either four males or four females. There will be no corecreational teams.

PRESENTLY, no date has been set for the tournament. It will be announced at a later date. Tebbe's is attempting to get teams from Louisiana Tech, Northeast, Northwestern, Louisiana College and Centenary, to name a few, said Simon.

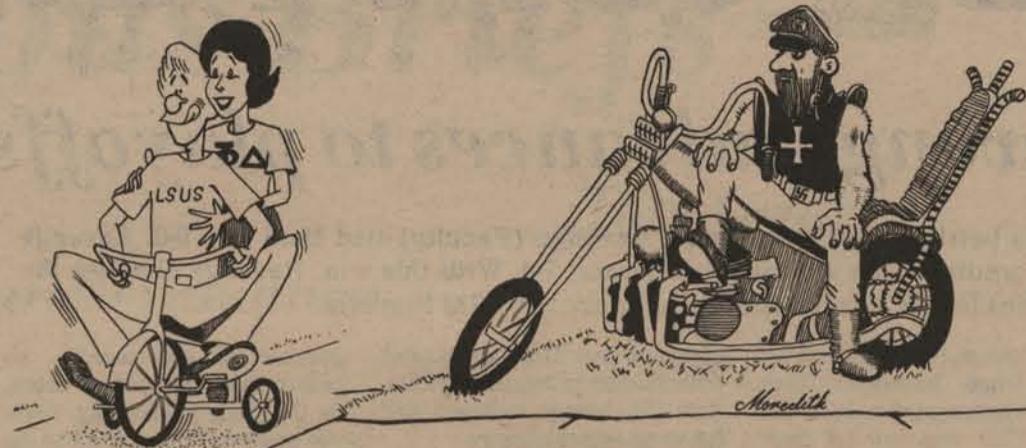

Anyone interested in participating for LSUS is welcome to enter. Individuals do not have to be in the current LSUS bowling league to join a team in the tournament. If you are interested in playing contact either Roy Murry or Karen Irvin in the Intramurals office in Bronson Hall, room 142.

Entries for the race are open until Oct. 28. Teams must consist of one male and one female. Both team members must be LSUS students or staff and sponsored by an organization or department of the university.

STARTING TIME is 12:30 p.m. Awards will be presented to the winning team. Possibly, there will be television coverage of the event.

Harvey stated that the event can only be successful with student participation. Tricycles are furnished by the SAB office. Participants may contact Harvey for further information in the SAB office, Bronson Hall, room 123.

Right Turn on Red after Stop, under Louisiana's new law, is allowed at all signalized intersections, unless a sign reading "No Right Turn on Red" or "No Turn on Red" is posted. Drivers must become accustomed to checking intersections for special signs prohibiting right turns on red.

Wednesday league

Mothership stops Delta Sigma Phi

The Mothership Connection shutout Delta Sigma Phi, 21-0, Oct. 6 in the Wednesday IM football league. Delta Sig threatened early in the game, as quarterback George Henderson was stopped on a fourth down run just short of the goal line.

For Mothership, it was all quarterback Kevin Kelly and Richard Lattier. Lattier set up the first score as he intercepted a Delta Sig pass. On the next play, Kelly's twenty yard pass to Lattier made it 7-0.

WITH TIME running out in the first half, Lattier was once again on the receiving end of another Kelly TD pass. The extra point was no good and the half time score was 13-0, Mothership.

Mothership scored its final points on a razzle-dazzle bomb from Kelly to, once again, Lattier. The two point conversion was good to make the final score: Mothership 21, Delta Sig 0.

In the other game, Beta Chi defeated Kappa Alpha. League standings show the Faculty, who won by forfeit last week, with a perfect 5-0 record. Beta Chi is 4-1. Mothership is 3-2 while Delta Sig dropped to 2-3, and KA is 1-4.
